

The gift of giving

Nothing brings more joy to people than when they receive a gift. It evokes the feeling of being valued, of being cared for, and makes the moment a tad more wholesome.

With the world fighting an unprecedented war, it's important now that we spread the gift of joy to people that matter. Be it to acknowledge colleagues who've overcome the difficulties of working from home or the office administrator who risks his safety to make sure everything is running smoothly, gifting them during these trying times will reignite their hope for a better future.

At Almond House, we curate mithai using authentic recipes, high-quality ingredients, and the optimal mix of craftsmanship and automation in order to make celebrations memorable for those who matter to us.
